Dynamo had been designed for office usage due to its serious look, it is also suited to lobbies and galleries. The product offers a variety of colour and texture and the design uses LED to its full potential. The optional acrylic ring that stays between the two parts of the fixture creates an elegant look and a selection of colours are available. The differing colours allow the creation of a colour scheme that can, for example, refer to the corporate identity of the company it is used in, creating a graphic language in the interior architecture.
